Collin, Carland, Rose Brighten Hilltop's Outlook for Season.

BY HOWARD WOLFF.

T LOOKS like the victory famine at Creighton university is at an end. And it's a gang of hustling sophomores who are helping Blueay supporters view the 1931 football outlook with rose-colored spectacles.

For Connie Collin, Jack Carland, Chuck Rose and the rest of the sophomore tribe Saturday night whipped Baker university's eleven, 26 to 7, at the Hilltop, while eight housand looked on in glee.

It was Creighton's first football victory since just a year ago this September, when the Bluejays of 1930 defeated another Kansas college team, St. Mary's, 12 to 0. After that victory the Hilltoppers met seven consecutive reversals.

3 Touchdowns Second Period. But Cornie and his crew served notice that this is another season. True, they failed to score in the last half, but Coach Stark had a second and third-string line in the fray most of the final period.

What thrilled every Hillton fan was that second quarter, when the sophomore kids ripped and pounded their way to three touchdowns, although the most spectacular play of the period was Jack Carand's 56-yard dash off tackle. He was hauled down short of the goal, but the Bluejays went right on ahead to get that touchdown, just

A moment later, Carland produced his electrifying sprint of 56 yards, Pike, hauling him down just short of the goal. Line punching carried the ball to the one-yard line and Johnny Moran, also a sophomore, got the touchdown.

Baker Scores in Third. Four first downs in a row, one gained on a 25-yard pass, brought Baker into scoring position at the start of the third period and another pass, Stock to Cookson over the goal, did the work. Wilkinson place kicked for the point.

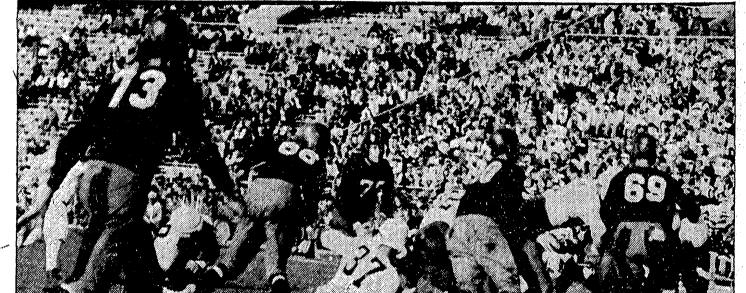

Stark gave most of his squad nembers a chance, although only four plays were used during the game. He didn't have to uncover

First, Second Stringers Combine to Make Effective Attack.

BY FREDERICK WARE. (Sports Editor of The World-Herald.) EMORIAL STADUIM, Lincoln,

Neb., Sept. 26.—Dr. Bible paraded 37 of his 39 pupils onto the recitation pasture for observation Saturday afternoon. The South Dakota football boys were also present, and Dr. Bible's pupils scored 44 points to their six, but this, the truthful pedagogue asserted, was only incidental.

Dr. Bible was experimenting. He is likely to prove most obstreperous against Northwestern next Saturlay, and maybe he found it.

Three quarters elapsed before there was assembled in Nebraska sweaters a team that clicked against the Coyotes in the manner that the customers seemed to expect them to click.

Huskers Take Lead Early, In the final period, a mixture of first and second stringers accomplished what the unadulterated first stringers had failed to accomplish during the moments immediately following the inaugural kickoff. The Cornhuskers took the lead in the first quarter, and stayed ahead. They scored once at the start, once in the second period, and once in the third, but in the fourth they exploded in the way Dr. Bible has been hoping, often desperately, for the past two seasons. Four times they crossed the weary Coyotes' goal in the final moments, and the crossings were the result of better football than year's eleven played on Thanksgiving day. Coyote Runs 70 Yards.

A different team, starting with the first lineup and progressing to the third stringers, played each of the first three quarters. Each got one touchdown, but the third class also permitted Steven Adkins, a very worthy end, to canter 70 yards practically unimpeded for South Dakota's only Howard points.

The South Dakotas charged on to the field inspired to do their darndest and for 15 minutes it was a pretty even game with the guests looking much brighter and more promising. The Coyotes wore red shirts and for a spell there was confusion in the stands. Some of the customers thought they were beholding the Nebraska team. There must have been an error in the visitors' weights. They looked every bit as big and imposing as some of Dr. Bible's veterans who opposed them, veterans who have been accorded conference and even all-American honors. And for a quarter of an hour the (Continu ' on Page 3-B Col. 2)

C Rentner continued to be the offensive king pin of Northwestern's football team Saturday, running wild to score five touchdowns in the varsity's 50-to-0 victory over the freshmen.

The Joliet youth, who last year attained prominence as a forward passer, this fall has developed into an exceptional ball carrier. Since he was shifted to right halfback in spring practice, Rentner has become the Wild-
